2. All exhibits must have been grown in the State of North Dakota in 2014, except as specified by 4-H and FFA rules.

3. Entries will not be accepted after 10 AM, March 2, and judging of all classes will begin at 1 p.m. on that date.

4. Exhibitors must state on the entry blank the class, lot number and the kind and variety under which the entry is to be judged. The officials in charge of exhibits, or the judges, reserve the right to make any corrections in class or lot numbers in case of errors.

5. The Crops Show management will not be responsible for loss, damage, or mixture of any entry, but will exercise reasonable precaution at all times.

6. All samples must be properly labeled inside. Entry blanks should accompany all samples and must be signed.
Include Variety name.

7. All samples and sheaves become property of the North Dakota Winter Show, they cannot be removed without permission and will not be returned.

8. The following minimum quantities will be required for all entries in the open class, 4-H and FFA Divisions.

Two quarts ~ Wheat, durum, oats, barley, sunflower, rye, peas, lentils, beans and shelled corn.

11. All exhibit entries will be judged by the group placing system. The best blue ribbon entries from the three divisions in each lot will compete for Championship Division premium money and awards. Crop Show Honoree

The 2015 ND State Crop Show is dedicated to Dale Williams, of Fargo, ND. Dr. Williams is currently the Director of NDSU's Foundation Seed Stocks, where each year more than 100 varieties of 14 different crops are produced, to provide the economic advantages of new varieties to ND producers. Dale has been an assistant manager of the show since he began at NDSU, in 2001. His duties have ranged from helping set up for the crop show, to judging the various crop samples that are entered each year.

Dale was born and grew up in North Central Texas and both parents were from farming families. Not surprisingly, he quickly developed a love for working soil and watching crops grow. In the fall he and his brothers would work in cotton, wheat, alfalfa and sorghum fields, to earn money to spend at the county fair. He also assisted in a family truck farming operation producing pecans, peaches, okra, melons, peas and greens. He worked his way through school, with various agricultural jobs and attended college at Midwestern University, in Wichita Falls, TX and Ohio University, in Athens, OH and finished a PhD at the University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ. During college, he supplemented his income as a manager of a small greenhouse and landscaping operation.

After graduating he taught botany and biology courses at a community college, before joining the plant science department facility at the University of Arizona. It was there that Dale realized he wanted to work with seeds and seed production and he has continued in that area, working at four major land grant universities: the University of Arizona, in Tucson, AZ, Oklahoma State University, in Stillwater, OK, Texas A&M, in College Station, TX and NDSU, where he is currently employed.

In addition to his involvement on the ND State Crop Show Committee, Dale is involved with several organizations, including the North Dakota Crop Improvement and Seed Association, the North Central Foundation Seed Organization and the International Crop Improvement Association.

Dale feels blessed to have found his dream job working in agriculture and having the opportunity to serve farmers and agricultural programs. He and his wife, Delia, reside in Fargo, ND and are the parents of four grown children. Dale will be recognized at the ND State Crop Show Awards Banquet, held during the North Dakota Winter Show, at the VC Eagles Club, on Friday, March 6, 2015.

COMMITMENT TO QUALITY

North Dakota farmers have a hard-earned reputation for producing high quality hard red spring, durum and hard red winter wheat for customers in more than 70 countries worldwide. The global marketplace is highly competitive and quality gives us a marketing advantage.

International and domestic customers demand clean, uniform, high quality wheat with predictable and consistent functional performance. We must meet this challenge by using the best production practices and growing wheat varieties with processing traits that customers prefer.

Clean wheat that is high in protein, test weight and vitreousness garners a better price than generic wheat, plus it tends to have the milling, baking or pasta processing properties that customers want.

Producers are encouraged to consider end-use quality as well as yield, disease resistance and agronomic factors in the varieties you select. It is a key factor in building bigger better markets for your wheat.

The North Dakota Wheat Commission encourages production of high quality wheat and is pleased to sponsor awards for the following wheat classes:
